THE AWARDS CEREMONY

«Family businesses are renewed and reborn with each generation. This is the secret for their continuity and solidity over time». At the closing of the "A Family, a Business" event organized by Messaggero Veneto, Marco Rossi, president of the Next- Gen Committee and member of the board of directors of AIDAF (Italian Association of Family Businesses), drew the conclusions of an intense afternoon of discussions and unique business stories, which saw the awarding of seven companies from the province of Udine. The companies that were honored with an award and a plaque for the characteristics that set them at the top, selected on the basis of the rankings compiled by Nomisma, the economic analysis firm, were Icop, Moroso, Ondulati e Imballaggi del Friuli, BMeters, Fisa, Nord Laser, and Nonino Distillatori.

THE STORIES

They all have a story to tell. Sometimes it takes on epic overtones, narrating beginnings that are always pioneering, like all beginnings, but often also adventurous. Because if even a garage can become legendary, if it is the garage where the adventure of Steve Jobs and Apple began, so today also the wheeled still in which Orazio Nonino, way back in 1897, distilled his first grappas, destined to bring the most iconic of Friulian spirits to the world appears to be such. And if Nonino Distillatori—with Benito and Giannola and their daughters Cristina, Elisabetta, and Antonella at the helm—s the name that symbolizes Friulian family-owned businesses, the other six companies awarded at Palazzo Torriani by virtue of the rankings developed by Nomisma are also symbols, a transversal expression of a productive fabric where family and business remain a winning combination. All with a story to tell and a past legacy ready to be handed down.
